Justice Schirick Held Regular Special Term of Supreme Court Friday

Went Through With Long Calendar Without Adjourning For Lunch Before Adjournment Was Taken To Chambers at Close.

MANY CASES

Large Number of Contested Actions in Addition to a Number of Adjudged Matters.

Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick held a regular special term of Supreme Court at the court house Friday. There were a number of contested actions in addition to a number of adjudged matters and uncontested actions in which orders were signed. Without adjourning for lunch Justice Schirick went through with the long calendar before an adjournment was taken to chambers at the close of court.

An order to show cause why the court should not set aside a judgment was argued in four cases which were tried at the March term. Those actions grew out of an automobile accident on the Sagerties-Woodstock road in August, 1934, when a Pontiac car of Ida Smith of West Sagerties was in collision with a Buick car of Ida May Murrman of Mr. Vernon, N. Y. The jury found for the plaintiff, Smith and Bach, who occupied the Pontiac car. Roscoe V. Elsworth of Brinley & Elsworth appeared for the plaintiff. There were counter actions brought by Miss Murrman and in those actions no cause of action verdicts were rendered by the jury. Following the trial costs were taxed in all four actions. Joseph Aris appeared and argued that costs should be taxed only in one action and asked the court to set aside the judgment in the other three actions. Mr. Elsworth argued that he had taxed all of the judgments in one action but had entered other costs in all actions and that he was entitled to do that. The court took the case under advisement and reserved decision pending receipt of affidavits and additional briefs.

An application for change of place of trial was made by Deane Higgins in the action of Continental Packing Company Inc. against Peter LoBello. Mr. LoBello resides in Ulster county and the plaintiff corporation has its principal office in New York city. Mr. Higgins argued that Albany county, where the corporation has a place of business and where the action was brought is not the proper county since the county in which one of the parties resides or has its office. He asked that the matter be changed to Ulster county as one proper county. The action might be brought in Ulster or New York county, he argued, but not in Albany. The action is one on note. Papers submitted.

Argument was also had in several matters involving the Farmers' Bank of Hudson and R. M. and Sarah Hornberg on action on note. This matter has been in the courts since shortly after 1929 when the bank closed out securities of defendants. Since then there have been actions for an accounting and there have been note and mortgage actions. Involved in the matter is a $50,000 counter claim for alleged damages. The action Friday before Justice Schirick was on order to show cause why the name of one Hawver should not be stricken from the case as a party and Mr. Hornberg sought leave to examine the records of the bank and determine what action had been taken by the directors of the bank in regard to certain mortgages. There are apparently five separate actions. Mr. Hornberg's counsel said, had assigned certain mortgages to the bank as security for a note. The property was sold and he alleges no accounting has been made. He alleges fraud and conspiracy in one of his actions. The transfer of stock by the bank is also involved and there are charges by plaintiff, Hornberg, that the bank exceeded its power to loan. This matter has been before the courts for several years and has had frequent adjournments in special term. Attorneys in court displayed their fighting spirit when counsel for the bank said he made no objection to examination of the directors' minutes by an officer of the court. He objected to a general fishing expedition into the books which he called confidential records. He said he would agree to an examination by an official referee of those minutes which dealt with the action of the bank directors in regard to the mortgages in question. Justice Schirick asked counsel if they could agree on a referee. Young Mr. Hornberg, who appeared for plaintiff in the action, stated he would be satisfied with Judge Tracy, county judge. Mr. Hornberg for the bank objected on the grounds that Judge Tracy had a former connection with the bank and was not an officer of the supreme court but of the county court of Columbia county. Judge Schirick asked as to official referee. Mr. Hornberg said he would agree to Justice William D. H. Hornberg of Kingston as an official referee. Justice Schirick said he would accept that.

Return to Consciousness After 21 Days in a Coma

Hudson, N. Y., May 4 (AP)—Kathleen Doughty, 29-year-old school teacher, appears to be returning to consciousness after 21 days in a coma.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Doughty, who have been constantly with her since an automobile accident April 12 in which she was injured, last night saw first signs of returning consciousness. She moaned and stirred. Physicians said she mumbled that her neck hurt. In spite of a fractured skull and her long coma, her physicians believe she may recover. Miss Doughty was on her way from school at Sea Cliff, L. I., where she teaches, to her home in Albany when her car collided with a truck and trailer.

Public Works Board Inspected Streets and Met With the ERB

ERB to Rebuild Four Streets This Summer and Will Send Out Repair Gangs Monday—Two Boards Met to Talk Over Plans.

Mayor C. J. Heiseleman and Commissioners Phelps and Roach of the Board of Public Works with City Engineer Henry Darrow and Superintendent James Norton spent the greater part of Friday touring the city and making an inspection of the streets. Following the inspection they met informally with the local emergency relief bureau to discuss plans for the summer's work on the streets.

The ERB plans to reconstruct Henry street, Hudson street, Abel street and Clinton street this summer. At the meeting held Friday was brought out that the ERB was handicapped in building streets as the bureau is allowed only a certain amount each month with which to purchase materials and to rebuild streets in a costly job and requires the purchase of considerable material. For this reason the ERB can do but little work each month on rebuilding streets.

It was decided, however, that the trenches that have been dug in the various streets where sewers and water pipes were laid should be filled in and starting Monday the ERB will start out several repair gangs.

The Public Works Board also has a list of streets which need to be resurfaced and scarified, and also a list of streets which need to be repaved.

WOMAN KILLED, CHAPPIE JOHNSON MURDER IN CHARGE

Mrs. Edith Dutton Wells of Watervliet was killed and George "Chap" Johnson, colored baseball player whose team had played here frequently, was one of several injured when cars driven by George Johnson and Mrs. Wells collided Friday afternoon at Horkimer. Chappie suffered a fractured hip. One of the ball team hurt were Chester A. Johnson of Highland Falls, an infielder; Willy Taylor, pitcher, of Schenectady; and Cotton "Babe" Hobson of Syracuse, catcher. The Johnson car was on the way to Ogdensburg from New York city.

Justice Callahan in New York

City Judge Bernard A. Callahan was in New York city today and this morning he was to be one of the guest speakers at the annual meeting of the Board of Education at the Hotel Pennsylvania, where 104 students will receive the university's athletic scholarship. Judge Callahan is a graduate of Fordham and while a student was a member of varsity pitching staff.

Boston, May 4 (AP)—More "important" developments in the near future is the prediction of federal agents, who already have in custody five of the six men postal inspectors named as the bandits involved in the $129,000 mail truck robbery in Fall River last January.

The sixth was slain and District Attorney Edmund R. Dewing of Norfolk county expects his investigation of the slaying to result in an arrest "very soon."

U. S. Attorney Francis J. W. Ford said it probably would be a month before the cases of the principals in the mail robbery would be ready for trial, but added that indictments might be expected "much earlier."

In Warwick, R. I., at the elaborate criminal stronghold presided over by Carl Rettich, Rhode Island State Police continued their search for evidence. The mansion, already has yielded an arsenal in machine guns and other weapons, jewelry and a large amount of currency identified as part of the Fall River loot.

The officers, who believe murder may have been included in the gang's activities, turned their attentions today to a barn on the outskirts of the estate. They thought they might discover the body of Daniel Walsh, missing rum czar.

John J. Breslin, chief postal inspector for the New England district, named Rettich and five others as the Fall River bandits as he and other federal investigators went before a special session of the federal grand jury here to demand indictments.

Those named by Breslin, beside Rettich, were: Joseph Fisher, described by U. S. Attorney Ford as Rhode Island's "Public Enemy No. 1." He is held in Providence, R. I.

Thomas Dugan, held without bail at New York.

Charles Harrigan, under arrest at St. Vincent Hospital, New York, where he is suffering from bullet wounds.

John "Sonny" McKeown, held without bail at New York.

The sixth man Breslin named was Andrew Merola, Jr., Providence gangster, who was found shot to death in an abandoned car at Wrentham a week ago.

Rettich, at whose Warwick estate was uncovered weapons and loot, was carefully guarded in a Rhode Island cell—the careful guarding serving the dual purpose of preventing escape and shielding him from five government federal investigators who were imported from New York to assassinate him. He is held in default of $125,000 bail, charged with the Fall River robbery.

OVER DOZEN PERSONS KILLED IN BOMB BLAST

Philadelphia, May 4 (AP)—More than a dozen persons were slightly injured today as a bomb exploded in south Philadelphia, ripping out the front of a recently opened butcher store and shattering windows in the vicinity.

Mrs. Mary Stangle, 75, her daughter, Mrs. Amelia Veratti, 34, and her six children who lived over the store were injured as plaster showered down on them. Flying fragments of glass were buried in the walls beside their beds.

Next door Rocco Costanzo, 27, an attorney, and five members of his family were slightly injured.

Milton Mandelblatt, 11, was severely cut on the legs by flying glass and was taken to a hospital.

Detective Sergeant Frank A. Chopolinski, who took charge of the investigation, said he learned the owner of the butcher shop, Charles L. Guinza, had received several threatening letters and telephone calls demanding that money be paid for protection.

BUFFALO U. STUDENTS PICKED OVER SELECTION

Buffalo, N. Y., May 4 (AP)—Picked because they were not consulted in the matter of selecting a queen of the May for today's annual morning-up day parade of the University of Buffalo, men students have arranged for a second queen as a counter attraction.

The official queen was named by a jury, including Vincent Lopez, orchestra leader, and Tito Galar, singer, she is Miss Olga C. Steck, a brunette with a sparkling smile.

Meantime an offense to Miss Steck, who they were sure would "understand" the boys decided there was the right to name a queen of their own choice and they did it.

5 Dead, 7 In Hospital Following Poughkeepsie Apartment House Fire

Four Members of One Family and Girl, Seven, Trapped in Tinder Dry Structure Early Friday Evening.

3 BOYS DETAINED

Stream of Water Knocked Over Gasoline Can; Firemen Collapse After Heroic Rescues.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 4 (AP)—Trapped in an apartment as fire raged through a tinder-dry, four-story wooden building and destroyed two adjoining structures, five persons, including three children, are dead today, and seven others are in a hospital recovering from burns and the effects of smoke.

The victims are: Herbert E. Seftis, 34; his wife, Mary, 30; their two children, Joan, 3, and Rose Marie, one, and Shirley Elmore, 7. Their bodies were found huddled together on the third floor near a front window of the Seftis apartment last night after the fire had been brought under control.

A coroner said he believed they died of asphyxiation before the flames reached them.

The blaze started, police said, as three small boys built a fire near an outside stairway in the rear of the apartment building.

Fireman George B. Way, attached to a station located near the rear of the building, found the staircase a mass of flames when he arrived on the scene.

"I told the men to turn on the water," he said, "and the minute the stream of water hit the stairs a burst of flames shot up through the entire building."

Officials later said the stream of water knocked over a can of gasoline on the stairway.

"The building is full of people," Way heard someone shout.

He then dropped the hose and, with fireman Fred Hadley, raced to a second escape and carried out Mrs. Clifford Elmore, mother of one of the victims, and three of her children from the top floor apartment.

All other child was visiting the Seftis. All were taken to a hospital.

After rescuing the Elmore, Way and Hadley collapsed from the effects of the smoke.

"I saw a girl's body about 20 feet from where I was," Way said last night from his hospital bed, "but I couldn't make it. Flames and smoke poured out of the hallway so that I couldn't get through."

Boys are Questioned.

Officials said they believed members of the Seftis' family attempted to fight their way to the rear fire escape but were driven back by smoke and flames.

The occupants of the second floor apartment saw the smoke billowing down the corridor and dashed down the fire escape. They were Mrs. George Sherow and her two children. Sherow was burned on the hands and face as he attempted to enter the apartment.

Damage was estimated by Fire Chief Christ W. Noll at $25,000.

Three boys, believed responsible for the blaze were questioned by police last night. Captain Joseph V. Shelly said they had confessed to building the fire in the rear of the building. But because of their ages, ranging from five to seven years, he did not reveal their names.

REAL ESTATE ASSOCIATION LAUNCHES DRIVE ON TAXES.

Albany, N. Y., May 4 (AP)—The Real Estate Association of the state of New York today launched a drive to secure tax limitation legislation next year.

Donald T. Pomeroy, president of the association, said a committee was being formed which "will serve as the spear head in the campaign for tax limitation and will be the campaign banner around which individuals and organizations in favor of real estate tax limitation can rally."

The committee, he added, will "afford an opportunity of bringing to a focus the widespread sentiment for real estate tax relief and will provide the necessary correlation and direction of effort on the part of all cooperating organizations and individuals."

The Ashokan Reservoir Road Becomes Part of State Highway System

Governor Lehman Signs Wicks-Conway Bill Which Will Place Under State Supervision Road Maintained by N. Y. City.

BETTER HIGHWAY

Expected Improvements Will Be Started in Near Future To Place Highway in Better Condition.

The road bordering the north shore of the Ashokan Reservoir between West Hurley and the end of state highway No. 1186, which was formerly owned and maintained by New York city as a part of the reservoir system, became a part of the state highway system yesterday when Governor Herbert H. Lehman signed into law the Wicks-Conway bill calling for this action. The new law becomes chapter 677, and will place under state supervision a portion of roadway which has been termed by highway engineers as "the most dangerous piece of through route highway in the state."

The bill which became law with the governor's signature had the backing of virtually all business organizations in Kingston, the approval of both political parties, and the action was recommended by the Rosendale Township Association together with associations in Fleischmanns, Pine Hill and Phoenicia. Petitions favoring the bill were circulated by the Kingston Business men's Association and sent to the governor.

The measure was laid before the governor for his action after the Assembly had passed it on April 15. Previously the Senate had taken favorable action.

Title to the roadway was taken by New York city at the time of construction of the Ashokan Reservoir, it being one of the most used of all routes to the mountains. Numerous accidents have occurred on the roadway over a period of years due to the many curves and slippery pavement.

With the road a part of the state highway system, it is expected that improvements will be begun in the near future to place the highway in better condition. Due to the negotiations over Ulster county roads on the state highway system map, the county has about 12 miles of road "due" because of readjustment. Because of the dangerous condition of this road and the fact that the state is obligated to construct, indications are that work will be started soon to make this highway a much improved road.

Story Back of the Bill

The story back of the signing of the bill by Governor Lehman is an interesting one. The matter first came up for discussion several months ago when Mayor Heiseleman released to the press a letter written by District Engineer Bixby, who has charge of the state highway department, in which Mr. Bixby had written the New York Board of Water Supply calling attention to the dangerous condition of the road. New York city wrote back it had no funds to expend in rebuilding the road, and that it would raise no objection if the road was taken over and maintained as part of the state road system.

Mayor C. J. Heiseleman took up the matter with the local business associations and they did considerable work in circulating petitions and using every effort to have the state take over the road. The mayor also interested himself in having Assemblyman J. Edward Conway introduce the bill in the state legislature. Both Assemblymen Conway and Senator Wicks were in favor of the plan and they did considerable work in having the bill passed by both houses of the legislature.

Before the bill was adopted, however, as it was a Republican measure introduced and sponsored by the Republican members of the state legislature, it was decided by those in Albany that the bill should not become effective unless it received the okay of the Ulster County Democratic organization.

The matter was taken up with City Judge Bernard A. Callahan, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic County Committee, and he placed his approval on the measure, which was adopted by the legislature and signed yesterday by the governor.

F. D. R. Leaders In Senate Reported Opposed to NRA

Holy See, Japan to Enter Into Initial Diplomacy

Vatican City, May 4 (AP)—For the first time in history the Holy See and Japan are to enter mutual diplomatic relations; prelates reported today.

They said the establishment of a nuncio in Tokyo to replace the present apostolic delegate and the establishment of a Japanese embassy or legation in the Holy See is imminent.

In high Vatican circles it was said the understanding between the land of the rising sun, with its mystic oriental religion, and this center of the Roman Catholic world followed lengthy negotiations between them.

The negotiations came to a head recently, these sources said, and a formal announcement concerning the foundation of mutual diplomatic relations would be forthcoming in "due time."

Robinson and Harrison Said To Be Against Recovery Law, Because They Favored Only One-Year Extension.

CONGRESS TO RENEG

McKnight, Retiring Director, Who Made Charges, Going To See President Before Departure.

Washington, May 4 (AP)—While supreme court justices considered the pros and cons of NRA's constitutionality, a cry was heard from the Blue Eagle camp today that Roosevelt administration leaders in the senate are really opposed to NRA.

The assertion that Majority Leader Robinson (D-Ark.) and Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the senate finance committee are "internally" against the recovery law came from A. G. McKnight, who is retiring as director of litigation for NRA.

His comment resulted from the finance committee's approval of a plan to extend the law only until next spring, with all intra-state business removed from its field of operations. Administration officials want a two-year extension, with the law applying to business in or "affecting" interstate commerce.

"The vote of the finance committee against the Barkley proposal to permit codes for intra-state business indicates that congress is going to renege," said McKnight, a gray-haired man from Minnesota.

"Pat Harrison and Joe Robinson internally are not for the NRA. Unless provision along the line of the Barkley motion are retained in the NRA the whole thing will be emasculated."

"I have resigned but before I go home I am going to see President Roosevelt and tell him about that bunk in the Senate."

The Barkley proposal would permit codes for intra-state business "affecting" interstate commerce. Sharp questioning from the supreme bench marked the conclusion of arguments yesterday in the case, involving the constitutionality of the NRA.

Of all the members only Justice Hughes, Roberts and Cardozo had no questions to ask as Donald R. Richberg and Solicitor General Stanley Reed for the government, and Frederick H. Wood and Joseph Heller for the fire chicken concern, wound up their case.

Some of the queries sought information on the limitations provided by congress to the president's code-making authority and on the character of the Schechter business in relation to interstate commerce.

Once Justice Butler wanted to know "where in this act are there any standards for fixing the wages of a bookkeeper?"

The American Federation of Labor, meanwhile, sided with the administration in its efforts for a two-year extension of NRA. The labor union's executive counsel carried to the White House a condemnation of "the senate's committee's resolution."

"The executive council," it said, "would rather see the National Recovery Act abandoned, terminated or repealed than manipulated and adopted for a ten-month period as recommended by the senate finance committee."

SEEKING RELATIVES OF MAN WHO DIED IN ROCKFORD, ILL.

The local Emergency Relief Bureau on Friday received a telegram from Rockford, Ill., stating that they were anxious to get in touch with the relatives of Edward J. Smith, 40, who died there that day. The telegram stated that Smith had said his home was in High Falls, Ulster county, and that he had not been in touch with his relatives for the past 20 years. He said that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Smith and a sister, Mrs. Jennie Shewler, formerly lived on Broadway, Kingston. The telegram was turned over to the police department and if any one has any information it should be sent in to the ERB or the police.

Central Asia Secrets Await Lucky Explorers

Washington.—Only an explorer with a four-foot clever complex could uncover historic secrets in central Asia. The National Geographic society has reported many "missing chapters" in the history of mankind might be found there by an explorer lucky enough to escape the bullets of bandit hordes, and safety during an earthquake and dodge a dangerous residence.

It was pointed out that central Asia is less accessible to a foreigner than the antarctic.

Dispatches from Lanzhou, western China, reported that hundreds of wells of muddy fluidist clastics recently were unburied in the wind-swept courtyard of a monastery that stood about 1,500 years ago. Ruins of the monastery were discovered accidentally by a Taoist monk about thirty years ago.

Mrs. Bishop has for a great many years been a devoted member of the West Shokan Baptist Church. She served as organist for 20 years. Over 50 years ago she and the first wife of Delancey N. Mathews organized the Baptist Ladies' Aid. Upon its reorganization after the church was rebuilt upon its present location she served as president. Despite her infirmities Mrs. Bishop is yet an accomplished musician and entertainer. Mr. Bishop died in 1921. He, too, was a leading churchman many years.

A letter from the extension division of the State Library says, "Trustees have connection with many organizations in their communities. We are asking them to use these connections to make members of groups conscious of the library's value to the community." The rest of the program will be more general, equally interesting to librarians. A morning and afternoon session will be held with a luncheon interval between.

SHE SAVED HIS LIFE

Having his life saved by a 3-year-old girl was somewhat mortifying to Pat Rode, 4. Pat and Maxine are shown after the excitement was over. (Associated Press Photo)

Guest Artist at Concert Here May 10

Charles Gilbert Spross

Charles Gilbert Spross, composer, pianist and organist, honorary member of the Kingston Mendelssohn Club, and for a period of about 15 years soloist and accompanist for the club, will be one of the guest artists at the concert of the Hudson Valley Glee Clubs which will be given on Friday, May 10, at the Municipal Auditorium as the outstanding feature of music week for Kingston music lovers.

The program being sponsored by the Mendelssohn Club will be given by 11 Glee Clubs of the Hudson Valley and adjacent towns. There will be four groups by this chorus of 400 voices.

The portion of the program to be given by Mr. Spross will include two of his own compositions. These are "Prelude in B Minor" and "Improvisation in D Flat" and as his third number he will render Waltz "Fledermaus," Strauss-Grunfeld.

Those who have had the pleasure to attend recent concerts by the Mendelssohn Club at which Mr. Spross appeared as a guest soloist will appreciate the fact that the club has been able to have Mr. Spross present at this Music Week concert. Charles Gilbert Spross is one of America's most spontaneous creators of lyric melody and the incorporation of two of his own compositions in his program will delight the local audience.

Born at Poughkeepsie Mr. Spross gave evidence of marked musical talent at an early age and studied with Adolph Keuhn, piano, and Helen J. Andrus, harmony, in his native town. Later he supplemented his work with advanced courses under Xavier Scharwenka, piano, and Emil Gramm and Carl V. Lachmund, theory and composition, in New York. Since then his activities in the three-fold capacity of composer, pianist and organist has secured him a distinctive position among American musicians.

Mr. Spross's compositions, his sacred and secular songs, his cantatas and choral works and his piano pieces have won that higher and wider use of appreciation which is not affected by passing time.

As a composer he has in the highest degree the quality of sympathetic understanding. He makes his song-poem or choral-text his own, and his imagination invariably endows it with a fine and free-flowing musical setting. He is unsurpassed in establishing a certain refined and graceful harmony between his text and music, and his inspiration reacts with the equal power both to the purely lyric and the dramatic poem. An aristocratic distinction is typical of his art, and he is manifold in mood. Mr. Spross has enriched the literature of the American art-song with notable examples of beautiful melodies of varied character.

Like some of the great tonal artists of the 18th century, Mr. Spross is happy in the dual role of virtuoso and composer. A pianist of rare attainment, he is unexcelled as an accompanist, and association in this capacity with such artists as Olive Fremsted, Johanna Gadsby, Mme. Schumann-Heink, Alma Gluck, Mary Garden, Anna Case, Jeanne Jomelli, Alice Nielsen, Louise Homer, Paquell Amato and Riccardo Martin, most of whom have used his songs, is an eloquent testimonial to his talent in this direction. He has also made a name for himself as organist at St. Paul's P. E. Church of Poughkeepsie, Second Presbyterian Church of Paterson, N. J., Rutgers' Presbyterian Church of New York and at the present time is acting as organist and choirmaster at the First Presbyterian Church of Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Spross takes high rank among modern American composers by reason of the genuine and undeniable value and beauty of his creative art work. To his wide circle of appreciative friends gained through his musical activities, must be added all those who have come into personal contact with his sympathetic and amiable nature.

Assembly-Speaker From N. Y. U.

In Friday morning's assembly, Principal Clarence L. Dumm introduced Prof. McKee, connected with the office of the dean, school of Business and Commerce, awakened the students' interest by striking the right chord in their sense of humor. He then mentioned the difficulty of finding suitable employment, and of obtaining adequate education, as the chief economic problem facing the average young man or woman.

"I think I can help you with one suggestion," said Prof. McKee. "An emergency situation creates a need for people who are not only capable of routine work, but who can rise to meet an emergency. Business men today are looking for men who are different, who can get out of a groove, and supply initiative. There is a natural tendency in education to conform to one set pattern which does not fit a man for modern business conditions." He then cited specific instances of business concerns which insisted upon the quality of individuality in their employees.

Prof. McKee spoke of the necessity for a college education, saying that even New York department stores required college training of their clerks, and that in every field it was becoming increasingly essential. He also encouraged students who lacked financial assistance by stating that over half of the present enrollment of N. Y. U. worked at the same time, several being part-time students who studied for six or eight years to obtain a degree.

Following his address, Prof. McKee discussed questions relating to business education with several senior students.

Came For May Day

Following the election of Miss Dorothy Winchell as May Queen at a secret meeting on Wednesday morning in the auditorium, the class met again on Thursday morning, during the student assembly, and voted to elect the May Queen's attendants. In past years, it has been customary for the May Queen to select her own attendants, who will be eight in number this year. Now, last year's graduates shared just the attendants by a vote of the entire class. When the matter was proposed to the present class, they decided to adopt the latter method. The attendants will probably be chosen Monday morning.

Meanwhile plans have gone forward for the May Day program. Mrs. Smith, physical education department, has been teaching several girls from each gym class an old colonial dance, in harmony with the three-hundredth anniversary theme. The girls will wear costumes of the colonial period. A tumbling act as representative of the boys' gym work will be presented as their contribution to the exercises.

In the near future, a collection will be taken to defray May Day expenses. In the past, this has been sufficient to eliminate all May Day expenses, such as the use of the amplifying system, which will again be employed.

Miss Winchell, who was selected from among six other candidates nominated for the most coveted honor the class can bestow upon a girl, has been very active in school and class activities, and has held several offices which attest her popularity. Secretary of the senior class, she has been doubly honored by the 1935 graduates. Miss Winchell also is president of the Girls' Hi-Y Club, and has been active in interclass basketball. Miss Mildred Shultz will be maid-of-honor at the May Day exercises. Other nominees were Misses Evelyn DuBois, Margery Eastman, Janet Halstein, and Helen Ashdown.

Immediately following May Day, the seniors will make their choice of class day speakers.

THERE LIES HIS WIFE—DEAD

Tragedy in the streets of the city caught by a cameraman. On the walk of a Brooklyn street lies the broken body of Mrs. Rose Samonoff, mother of four children. Carrying home a paper just purchased, she was crushed to death by the taxi, left, which leaped the curb after collision with a truck. At the right stands her husband, Samuel, too dazed with grief to fully comprehend that the body stretched before him is that of his wife. Egypt Was in Existence Before Recorded History

Egypt as a nation arose before the beginning of recorded history. Even at that early date its people were cultivators, builders, artisans, and poets, and not to be confused, because they were Africans, with the simple savages that still inhabit the jungle. This, says a writer in the Chicago Tribune, likewise holds true for a considerable proportion of the people of Ethiopia of the present day, who are on a higher plane than the witch-ridden folk of the interior.

The dawn of Egypt is shrouded in myths of fearful gods and goddesses, but the nation was an old one when King Sesostris built the pyramid of Medum, possibly as early as 4700 B. C. King Menes, founder of the first dynasty, was born many centuries after the establishment of kings and their kingdoms in the valley of the Nile. It is nearly 3,500 years since there reigned in Egypt the great King Thutmose III, who conquered Palestine and Syria, overthrew the Hittites, and placed his nation at the height of its power. Ramses II, who lived in the Thirteenth century before Christ and also subdued Palestine and Syria, is believed to have been the Pharaoh of Israel's oppression. And Moses led the children of Israel out of Egypt 500 to 600 years before the legendary founding of Rome by Romulus and Remus.

Alsatian Wolf Dog Does Not Welcome Strangers

The Alsatian Wolf dog, whose breeding is considered to approximate to that of the Eskimo dog, has been subjected to much exaggerated criticism, writes an authority in Answer's Magazine.

Because he is a super-guard, he has been called savage; because he has no friendliness for strangers, he has been dubbed treacherous. Yet an unshakable sense of duty when on guard and a suspicion of strangers are surely the first duties of a dog in relation to his master.

If you desire an animal that will wag his tail at all comers, avoid the Alsatian! But for intelligence, strength, vigilance, reliability in an allotted task, the wolf-gray dog is hard to beat. Wolf-dog crosses occurred centuries ago, but it was not until 1857 that the systematic crossing of wolves and dogs resulted in a new breed of German shepherds.

Lady Kitty Ritson, than whom there is no better authority, is definite that since that year there has been no new introduction of wolf blood into this breed, either here or abroad; and this view may be accepted as conclusive.

Apart from his strongly individualistic mentality, the Alsatian's most striking characteristic is his long loping gait.

The Judge Says

Following the death of Jesse James, who was shot by Bob Ford, a bandit, in 1882, for a reward of $50,000, Frank James, his brother, was taken to Independence, where he was held three weeks, when he was taken to Gallatin, where he remained in jail a year awaiting trial. The trial was hard fought, and lasted several weeks, but ended in acquittal. He retired to his farm home where he lived quietly the remainder of his life. He died February 18, 1915. He was never in any penitentiary or convicted on any of the many charges against him. Their mother's name was Veranda Cole and their father's name was Robert. She was a Catholic and he was a Baptist minister.

Wild Ox of Europe

The aurochs, the wild ox of Europe, has been extinct since the Seventeenth century. Its last point of survival being Poland. It was of great size, some specimens having stood six feet at the shoulder, and was black in color. On the extinction of this animal the same aurochs was in common parlance transferred to the European bison, which is almost extinct, but which survives in protected areas as does the American bison.

Arizona Cactus Plant

The Arizona cactus plant, which is known as the Saguaro, grows to a tremendous size. One specimen weighed over 1,000 pounds. There's a reason for the great weight achieved by these giant plants that is not evident from their external appearance. Inside the soft pulpy outer covering is a thick core of real wood.

Goose as "Watch Dogs"

In the West Indies, Chinese geese have been trained for use as watch animals. And once trained, these feathered watchmen are the most furious and tireless of sentinels. Indeed, the difficulty is to make them cease their warning rumples after they have notified the neighborhood of some disturbance.

Only One "Atatürk" Allowed

There can be only one "Atatürk" in Turkey, and that is the Great Mustafa Kemal. Thus reads the law passed by the Turkish parliament at Ankara. All other persons are forbidden to use the name for a person "Father of the Turks" or "The Greatest Turk."

Hasty About the House

The most noted or rather notorious prisoner of the ancient world was a woman, Lucretia, by name, who lived in Rome during the middle of the first century. She was a professional gigolo.

Thirty-eight per cent of the accidents at highway grade crossings in 1934 resulted from operations of passenger automobiles, motor buses, trucks, and motorcycles crashing into the side of trains. It is disclosed in a report just issued by the Bureau of Statistics of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Appointments to Be Made Monday at Methodist Session

New York, May 3 (Special).—Many of the Methodist Episcopal clergymen stationed at the 56 parishes throughout the Kingston district of the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be given new appointments on Monday afternoon it was learned here today.

Canadian "Mounties" Become Mechanized

Montreal.—The word "mounted" has nearly lost its meaning when applied to the Royal Canadian mounted police, Canada's colorful police force.

After serving the force faithfully for 60 years, the once indispensable horse is slowly but surely being replaced by more modern methods of transportation.

A report issued by J. E. Dawsey, head auditor of the R. C. M. P., shows that the force traveled 12,000,000 miles in pursuit of criminals during 1934, but the mileage covered by saddle horse was so small as to be of little account.

The "Mounties" traveled 6,275,000 miles by railway and steamboat, 1,007,000 by auto, 120,000 miles by airplane and 30,000 miles by dog sled.

VARIETY OF FLAVORS

THE BROADFOX

BROADWAY and FORTALL AVE. FORTALL, CONN.

Duke of the PLOWSHARE

The slow, plodding water buffalo and the tireless tractor stand for more than the old and the new beast of burden—they are symbols of man's conquest over the soil, marks of the tiller's power.

Since time began our great conflicts have been waged for land. Wars have been fought for fertile valleys. Battles have been waged for protective hill tops. The first kings were those who could control the most land. Dukedoms were created for those feudal landowners who threatened the king's reign.

Yet all this bloody struggle made little difference in the lot of those who worked the land. In every country in the world, until the opening up of America, the actual producers of food held no power of their own. They were regarded as the lowly peon class, the serfs. The sons of the soil were the sons of toil.

The Farmers Were Serfs

Landlords of old furnished their vassals with little more than the most meagre needs of life and the poorest of make-shift tools. They gave no thought to the back-breaking labor of producing grain which, for the most part, paid only for the peon's right to exist. Even today, in many parts of the world, water buffalo or oxen, hitched to wooden prongs, furnish the only power—other than human backs—for tilling the soil.

Farming Becomes a Business

The broad, fertile fields of America did far more than offer freedom of religious thought. They yielded bountiful harvests and a high return for the effort spent. Unfettered by generations of servitude, American sons of the soil developed a freedom of thought and action unknown elsewhere in the world. The science of farming was born. New methods and machinery were invented. Tilling the soil became a pursuit worthy of the best.

Today's oriental coolie farmer has little in common with the American Duke of the Plowshare. Both work the soil—but one is still the slave of toil, the other a master.

The Duke of the Plowshare wields his power as the ancient duke never dreamed. Thanks to his own ingenuity and the aid of modern business he is lord and master of his own domain. From his broad acres he feeds the world and the world serves him. Idaho potatoes, Kansas wheat, Iowa corn and Alabama cotton have reached the farthest corners of the earth. The world of industry is ready to trade the products of its craft for the products of his field. From industrial centers everywhere come his motor cars, his tractors, his home conveniences, clothing. World products have been brought to his door through advertising.

Mass Production and Advertising

Furthermore, his time has been devoted to his task as a specialist in mass production of raw food and clothing materials. Industry and business serve as his middle men, his agents, in stimulating a mass market for his produce. Every convenient sales outlet—the advertising that you see in the newspapers of packaged and canned foods—helps to sell the farmer's product. The greater the demand created for wool, cotton and leather clothing by advertising, the more surely does the Duke of the Plowshare find a demand for the growth of his soil.

These Little Girls Give New York A Hand

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "Mississippi." Twice before has this play been made into a movie by the Paramount Studios, but the added box office magic of Bing Crosby and W. C. Fields was reason enough to screen it once more with sound. Plenty of time was taken to make the show exceptional, the company's best song writers were asked to get creative in a big way, lavish sets were designed, an expensive cast was assembled, money was spent here, there and everywhere in order to assure the picture's success. And out of it all comes a colorful, mildly exciting and often hilarious talkie that tells of the old south and of a northern boy in particular who refuses to fight a duel and who is branded a coward. The southern girl he is engaged to scorns his love so he joins a show boat. While aboard, he accidentally plugs a famous bad man, and because of this, the young man is considered the greatest daredevil and killer in all the deep south. Because he sings, he becomes known as "The Singing Killer." Many events transpire before he wins the heroine, and the comedy of W. C. Fields is largely responsible for the play's success. A large cast includes Bing Crosby, Joan Bennett, Fred Kohler, Gail Patrick and Queenie Smith.

Orpheum: "Wings in the Dark." Gary Grant in the role of a sightless aviator due to an accident, and Myrna Loy as a girl stunt-flier, work out a happier destiny in the opening drama at the Orpheum. Blinded and helpless, the young man invents a device that will guide him on airplane without eyes, and he wins back his sight and the girl for his efforts.

"Neath Arizona Skies" is a John Wayne thrill drama of a king and a commoner who resemble each other and who change places to the astonishment of the lovely and romantic queen. There is some good singing during the show, especially by the talented Mary Ellis, and Carl Brisson also scores in an important role.

"While the Patient Slept" is the second picture on the Kingston double feature bill, and this melodramatic story offers Guy Kibbee and Aline MacMahon.

Tomorrow

Broadway: Same.

Orpheum: "The Ghost Walks." Thrills aplenty await the talkie fan who enjoys complicated mystery yarns, for this talkie has all the essential necessary for an evening of guess work. The cast includes John Miljan and June Collyer. "Phantom Empire," the serial thriller, is also a feature of the program along with several short subjects.

Kingston: "West Point of the Air." Wallace Berry, gentleman aviator and airplane enthusiast in private life, finds himself comfortably at home in the cockpit of his plane during the course of this dramatic film that fairly bursts with the martial spirit, bravery and patriotism. It has the father and son plot structure wherein the father is a grizzled army flight sergeant who sends his son to West Point. The boy comes back, his father's superior officer, and when the boy turns yellow his father takes drastic measures to make a man of him. And all turns out perfectly in the final chapter, with a love interest supplied by the lovely Maureen O'Sullivan. This play will interest all lovers of aviation. It is filled with sky scenes, the hum of throbbing motors, formations, trick stunts and a couple of realistic and hair-raising crashes. The show has so let down but travels right through one spectacular scene after another. A cast of thousands is headed by Wallace Berry, Robert Young, Lewis Stone, James Gleason and Russell Hardie.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS-SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Undaunted by the influx of operatic singers, some of your popular movie people are oiling up whatever voices they possess and preparing to croon, warble, or screech their way to added fame.

Letting the diamond horseshoe sopranos have the arias, the players who hitherto have specialized in voices for speaking only want to be prepared should a ditty, simple and tuneful, come their way. They are casting off vocal inhibitions.

"So you won't sing, eh?" was just a temporary title. It was changed, if you recall, to "Sing and Like It." The movie boys and girls, they sing and love it.

Joan To Do Musical

It is reminiscent of the first burst of screen music when Hollywood, as well as the rest of the towns, was surprised to hear tunes from Nancy Carroll, Estelle Taylor, Gloria Swanson, Charles (Buddy) Rogers, Charlie Farrell, Janet Gaynor, and a crowd of others from the silent films. Some of these did better than the others, of course.

Joan Crawford, who sang a number in the old "Hollywood Revue," has been taking singing lessons and they are planning to star her in a musical soon. Franchot Tone is studying voice, too. Gene Raymond surprised everybody in "Sadie Mc-Kee," and proved it was no double by singing on personal appearances.

Some Doubt Jean

Will Rogers' outburst in "Life Begins at Forty" was a highlight of the film, and Jean Harlow is supposed to sing in "Reckless," although her previewers had more than a suspicion of vocal doubling despite studio insistence that Jean did her own moaning-howl.

Lionel Barrymore, playing a doctor in "Public Hero No. One," has a drunk scene in which he is supposed to break into song. J. Walter Ruben, directing, advised him to burlesque it. Instead Barrymore sang it "straight" — but then he used to sing some on the stage.

There's a scene in "Masquerade" in which a concert singer intones "You're All I Need." The camera pans to Myrna Loy, who sings it softly again. Myrna took some coaching from Oscar Radin for the transition from talking to song. Isabel Jewell just stepped up and sang that number in "Shadow of a Doubt" — and her friends didn't laugh.

Speaking of voices — and of a real one this time — Maria Jerina is the latest opera star to flirt with a film contract, and the odds are better than even that she is to star in Metro's projected "Life of Johann Strauss." The role calls for a state-ly beauty who is an opera singer.

Dull gold and iridescent purple are the newest colors for tinted "hermals." Sable and jet are still popular with the boys that keep the cars in repair.

Traffic Light: A little green light that changes to red as your car approaches.

Salesman: What model is your car?
Prospect: It ain't a model. It's a horrible example!

Intelligence Test: Place him behind an automobile horn and see how much he toots.

36,000 deaths and $82,000 injuries from auto accidents in 1934. That's a warning to both drivers and pedestrians.

Mistress: Thomas, I do not like calling my chauffeurs by their Christian names—what is your surname?
Chauffeur: Darling, madam.
Mistress: Drive on, Thomas!

Cheerless Facts and Figures:—The most automobile accidents happen daily from 5 to 6 p. m., but more persons are killed between 7 and 8 p. m., the dangerous hour. Male drivers have about one third more fatal accidents, in relation to the total number in which they are involved, than women drivers. At 20 miles an hour, the average car needs 38 feet to stop after the driver perceives danger ahead. At 40 miles, 126 feet; at 60 miles, 263 feet. Nine out of every 10 autos involved in accidents are apparently in good condition, but there is usually no way to tell. Actually, about 75 per cent are believed defective. The cost of automobile accidents in the United States is twice that of our fire loss and about equal to the entire cost of our public school system. One child in three faces the probability of death or injury in an automobile accident before he completes his normal life span, if the present fatality rate continues.

Back seat drivers are taboo. Judging by traffic accidents front seat drivers aren't so hot, either.

Lawyer (to feminine witness):—How old are you?
Witness (of auto accident):—I'm just turned 24.

Lawyer:—Ah, I see—that means you are 42.

Did Not Know:—By Greenville Kleiser.

Did not know an upward glance
Did not know that man could be so gentle and so kind;
Did not know that man could be so gentle and so kind;
Did not know that man could be so gentle and so kind;

Did not know what flowers hid within their cloistered cell;
Did not know that friend brought-heliotrope to me
Did not know that common things are much approved of God;
Did not know that man with saintly face
Did not know a little child could show the way to live;
Did not know how to play aright;
Did not know that any book could mean so much to me;
Did not know that I should know the Truth
And the Truth shall make you free.

In the last 10 years about 300,000 persons have been killed by automobiles in the United States, six times the number of American soldiers killed in action during the World War.

Customer:—How do you sell this hamburger?
Merchant:—I often wonder myself, madam.

The world will often forgive you for being blue, sometimes forgive you for being green, but never forgive you for being yellow.

Newspaper is described by Edwin James, managing editor, of the New York Times, thus: "By newspaper I mean the daily journal that presents and seriously tries to give its readers an unbiased picture of the world's happenings and I do not mean the journal which uses 36-point type to proclaim that a platinum blonde seeks a divorce because her husband reads in bed."

Man:—How do you and your wife manage to get along so well together?
Friend:—Oh, I let her go her way and she makes me go hers.

Overblouse and Skirt of Contrasting Colors

The overblouse and separate skirt shown in the sketch is a chic combination.

The skirt is well-cut with straight, slim lines and plenty of room for action in the front pleat. It may be made in plaid or checked wool, or in the plain white wool, linen, cotton, or silk crepe. The overblouse has jacket-lines and is at its smartest when developed in a solid dark color. Yokes are on all the latest sports models. Central closings and large buttons are an important detail in clothes destined for service.

It was also decided to hold a cafeteria supper on Tuesday, May 28, in the basement of the church. The supper will be served at 6:30.

MT. MARION
Mt. Marion, May 3.—On Tuesday the Jr. O. U. A. M. of Saugerties played Mt. Marion at a playoff off of the tie in dart ball. Saugerties won, 2 to 1.

Earl Johnson and sons left Tuesday for Coxsburg where they will make their home in the future.

On Wednesday night Frank Hill gave a very good party for the community. About 130 people attended and listened with interest and keen enjoyment to the entertainment furnished by the Sickles Entertainers from Saugerties. The program was opened by the singing and playing of "Golden Slippers." This was followed by many familiar and delightful old time favorites, both vocal and instrumental. There were duets and solos by various members of the Entertainers, which were much enjoyed. One young miss, who is quite an accomplished acrobat, gave an exhibition of her art which was truly remarkable and well applauded. After the entertainment there was dancing till 1 a. m. The music was ably furnished by the orchestra for both round and square dances.

Sylvia Plasse's many friends will be glad to learn that she has sufficiently recovered to leave the hospital and is now staying with relatives on Pearl street, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Munier arrived here last week to open their home for the summer.

60 Currant Growers Attended Marketing Talk at Marlborough

About 60 producers and handlers of currants attended an all day hearing held in St. Mary's Hall, Marlborough, Friday, May 3, when a proposed marketing agreement to govern the currant industry in Ulster and Orange counties was discussed.

The agreement, if adopted and put into force, will involve licensing handlers of currants in the two counties, fixing of minimum prices to be received by handlers, contracts between growers and handlers, service charges, etc.

An industry committee of 13 members will be formed, if AAA control is established. Six members will represent the handlers, six the producers and the 13th member will be chosen by vote of the other 12.

The tentative agreement named Patrick Gallagher, W. J. Haviland, George Hildebrand, Russell Kohl, Walter Margart and Samuel Weed as the six members of the committee to represent the handlers. The six to represent the producers were to be elected later.

At the meeting Friday, which lasted from 9:30 a. m. to around 7:30 p. m., several representatives of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration of the department of Agriculture were present, including Messrs. Young, Cowling and French.

One of those present at the meeting stated that there appeared to be lack of satisfactory representation on the part of the larger producers of currants, but that many of the smaller producers were in attendance. He added that the handlers did not seem to be a unit in regard to adopting the agreement, one of those seemingly in opposition being W. J. Haviland of Marlborough, who handles a large quantity of currants and who is one of those named on the industry committee in the tentative agreement.

No decision was announced, but one of the officials present was heard to express some doubt as to the agreement being put into operation.

Smith of Cleveland, who holds the patent rights to an incubator Chase is charged with infringing, is for an injunction against further use of the device and for an accounting for profits made through previous alleged illegal use of it.

Justice Schirick Held Special Term of Court

J. Round against Myer J. Anderson, individually and as president of Forest Valley Club in Greene county, a partition action, decision was reversed and an opportunity was given to file additional papers. Arthur C. Connolly appeared in opposition to the motion. The action involves the disposition of lands which were taken over as a hunting and fishing preserve and bungalow colony by three men some time ago. One of the original trio has died and the other withdrawn. The question is whether a partition action may be had under the original agreement entered into by the three men when the club was formed.

Application for temporary alimony and counsel fees pending trial of a separation action was argued by William A. Kaercher for Connie Dawson, plaintiff, who seeks a separation from her husband, Roland Dawson. Roger H. Loughran appeared for defendant. The Dawsons recently figured in the courts when Connie claimed her husband slather her and assaulted her. He is now under indictment on a charge of assault. Mr. Kaercher said the separation action was brought on the grounds of cruelty, one of the acts mentioned was the pointing of a loaded shotgun at plaintiff. He said that as a result of that Mr. Dawson was arrested and pleaded guilty to an assault charge in justice's court and in revenge for that arrest he had next day returned home and slashed his wife with some kind of knife. On March 19 the grand jury returned an indictment charging assault, second degree. Mr. Kaercher said Mrs. Dawson had received little money from her husband and sought alimony and counsel fees now. For years the Dawsons, who are colored folks formerly living in Catskill, had worked together and saved money. This money had been deposited with the Building and Loan Association in Catskill but the defendant had withdrawn $5,000 from the account and that there now remained but about $1,500 which was in a joint account and could not be touched. Mr. Kaercher said Dawson, who conducts a gas station and restaurant on the Saugerties road, made from $50 to $75 a week.

In reply Mr. Loughran said that the whole trouble started over the bank account on which Mrs. Dawson had her eye. He denied that Dawson had taken $5,000. The Catskill-banking institution said that he would present affidavits showing that Dawson never had that amount there. He further stated that the day Dawson went to jail he had given his wife $50. Mr. Loughran said that he desired time to file affidavits showing these facts and also that when Mrs. Dawson did get money she used it to buy drink. He asked the court for time to file these affidavits. The court granted a week's time.

Action on Contract. Application was made in an action on contract to change the place of trial of an action brought by Thomas Markessins against Angel Markessins. Plaintiff lives in Albany and his brother defendant lives in Hudson, where he conducts a confectionery store. Plaintiff seeks to recover wages for services. He claims that when he came to this country from Greece in 1921 he worked for his brother in the store and that the brother agreed to pay him $40 a month. This the brother denied and alleges that he clothed, educated and brought up Thomas as a member of the family and did not require him to work other than do odd chores about the place. Thomas claims could not speak English when he came to this country and was treated as a son rather than a servant. He was given spending money and defendant alleges he owes him nothing. The motion for change of place of trial from Albany to Columbia county is made by defendant on the grounds of convenience of witnesses. Plaintiff has lived in Albany since 1927. Objection to change of place of trial was made by plaintiff on the grounds that the defendant had or was about to sell his business and return to Greece and that the case was now on the calendar in Albany county and if transferred to Columbia county could not be reached for some time. A bit of comedy was injected into argument by counsel who said that the trip to Greece might be "for now and it might be forever" and to this counsel for defendant, Mr. Cookingham, replied that the business had not been sold. In argument of what witnesses would testify to, Mr. Cookingham said that he had shown what Hudson people residing in the home would testify as to what plaintiff did. This was objected to by counsel for plaintiff, who pointing to Mr. Cookingham, said "how do you know what took place in that house, you did not reside there," and Mr. Cookingham with a smile replied, "I did. In the same building but not in the same home." Judge Schirick took papers and reserved decision.

An action brought by Peter G. Ten Eyck, as director of Department of Markets, against Patterson Milk and Cream Company, a New Jersey corporation buying milk in Steuben county in this state, was not argued as counsel for the milk company was engaged in court elsewhere. Attorney for the state asked for an adjournment to Albany on May 10 before Justice Staley but Justice Schirick reserved decision on that pending receipt to affidavits from counsel for defendant corporation. The action is one to prohibit the company buying milk in New York state since no bond has been filed by the corporation to guarantee payment of farmers for their milk. Objection to a bona postponement of the matter was entered because the corporation is purchasing large quantities of milk and there is no guarantee that the milk checks will come through. The law of the state requires filing of a bond from an out of state corporation to guarantee payment of the checks.

Wishes to Examine Dever. Application was made by A. J. Cook for J. Cleworth Smith, administrator, etc., of Edward Smith for permission to examine before trial the driver of the Mountain View Coach Line bus which struck and killed young Smith last November 25 as he walked along the road from his home in Madison to the Saugerties

High School. An action is now on the calendar in supreme court and the case is ready for trial at the May term. Mr. Cook said that an inquest had been held but nothing developed there to indicate how the accident happened and apparently the only man who knew what happened was the driver of the bus who had not made a statement at the inquest. He asked for permission to examine the driver, Edward Whittaker. The action is brought in supreme court against Whittaker and the bus line. Defendant was given until Monday to file affidavits and Judge Schirick said he would decide the motion by Wednesday so as not to delay the trial at the May term. Testimony was taken in an action for divorce brought by Clara Whittaker against Sylvester Whittaker, both of Hudson. Mrs. Whittaker said she was married in 1914 and there are three children. Harold F. Rivenburgh of Hudson testified that he and a lady and Mr. Whittaker and another lady had gone to the Hoffman House at Chatham one evening and danced and that while there the acts upon which the divorce is brought took place. Decision reserved.

A Long Argument

A long argument was had on a motion for permission to examine before trial defendant and other witnesses in an action brought by the Rev. Salvatore Mussi against Cassius J. Miller. This is an action brought by one minister against another. The plaintiff was pastor at the St. Titus Mission in Troy in 1932. Defendant, district superintendent, it is alleged was opposed to the appointment of plaintiff to the pastorate and did things to discredit him and prevent collection of moneys to pay for maintenance of the mission. He is also charged with having worked toward having plaintiff retired and this did take place in 1934 when the Methodist conference retired plaintiff. Plaintiff now seeks to recover damages from defendant for alleged slanderous statements. The defendant claims all his acts were in accordance with the laws of the church and that he took no individual action to either prevent Mr. Mussi's appointment as pastor of the mission or to have him retired. He claims all were official acts under the rules of the church. Decision was reserved.

The concern has a capital of $10,000, divided into shares of $100 each. The directors, all of Kingston and each of whom takes one share of stock, are Conrad Robinson, 278 Main street, Nathan L. Feldman, 110 Wall street, and Hattie L. Harp, 6 Delta Place. The papers were filed with the State Department by Assemblyman J. Edward Conway of Kingston.

ZUCCA WILL LOOK

OVER THE SUMMER STYLE Alderman Paul Zucca of the First Ward will be absent from his position in the hat department of Flanagan's, 331 Wall street, three days next week during which time he'll be in New York city looking over the summer styles in hats and men's furnishings.

"I'll be home next Thursday," said the popular clothier, public official and bandmaster to a friend today. "I couldn't miss being in Kingston for the celebration of Music Week. Thursday is the day for the big musical program at the joint meeting of Kiwanis, Rotary and Kingston Musical Association."

Alderman Zucca is a member of these organizations. Friday night at the Municipal Auditorium Zucca and his 10-piece orchestra will play for dancing after the concert by the Mendelssohn Club.

Joan of Arc Day. Paris, May 4 (AP).—The government announced the postponement today of national observance of Joan of Arc day from May 12, which is the final day of the municipal elections, until May 19 because of fears of clashes between right and left extremists in the heated campaign.

Baseball Games Scheduled On Kingston Diamonds For Sunday

Several Kingston baseball managers are praying for Old Sol to shine brightly Sunday afternoon so that their teams may show themselves on local diamonds.

Games announced for tomorrow are:

Forst Packers vs. Kaslich A. C. at the Kingston Fair Grounds at 3 o'clock.

P. N. A. vs. Wilbur Dodgers at Hasbrouck Park at 3:15.

Diers All Stars vs. U. P. A. at Block Park, 2:30.

Tomorrow's games are well distributed, one being set for each of the important diamonds in the city.

Forst-Kaslich Lineups

Nick Kaslich said his billiard parlor boys would line up as follows: Andy Celuch, pitching; "Moore" Tiano, catching; Charley Tiano, first base; Ray Gadd, second; second: "Shep" Ascienzo, shortstop; Jimmy Stelgerwald, third; in the outfield, Al Flanagan, Chambers, Garrity and Davis will take turns.

Manager "Hoib" Mills of the Forst Packers did not announce any choice of battermen, or name the rest of his starters in the game. His list of City Leaguers probably all will be on hand. The roster contains the names of Jim Martin, Ed Flemming, Bill Messing, Lutz Bruhn, Fritz Bruhn, Ad Stumpf, Jimmy Merrill, Jack Dawkins, Pres Knight, Andy Celuch, Harold Johnson, Walt Black, Earl Benjamin, Specs Ellis, and Mills himself.

P. N. A.-Wilbur

Manager Jimmy Diers of the Dodgers says he will start either Bradford or Fitzpatrick in the box at Hasbrouck Park with Bud Conlin behind the plate. He did not name the rest of his lineup.

Kazimir Hudela, the Stuyvesant Tailor, took time out from his stitching and pressing business today to name his men for Sunday. His list includes Joe Keizer, J. Kozlowski, K. Wojcio, captain; J. Raskowski, C. C. Will, S. Stopek, G. Senor, S. Symanski and Bob Lucas. Mr. Hudela hopes to see his Polish nine go places on the diamond this summer.

Diers-U. P. A.

Charlie Diers of the Diers All Stars listed his players as follows: J. Wenzel, first base; C. Schryver, second; L. Wenzel, shortstop; L. Letus, third; J. Letus, rightfield; F. Embree, center; E. Scully, leftfield; Dick Dulin, catcher; J. Uhl and F. Cullen, pitchers.

Johnny Weiss of the U. P. A. did not list his men.

Hogan, Vaughan National Stars, Hemsley, Foxx, Johnson Lead A's

New York, May 4 (AP)—Two new leaders stood at the top of the major league batting lists today while the pace setters of a week ago looked up from somewhat lower levels. But the clouting of Frank (Shanty) Hogan of the Boston Braves and Hollie Hemsley of the St. Louis Browns weren't the only outstanding hitting features of the past week.

Hogan, eighth in the National League last week, cracked six hits in ten times up and lifted his average .80 points to .448 to capture the lead formerly held by Burgess Whitehead of St. Louis. Hemsley, not even rated as "a regular" when the previous list was made up, came through enough to get in at the top of the American League at .390.

Other high spots were the continued clouting of Floyd (Arky) Vaughan of Pittsburgh, second National League hitter, who hit ten times in 20 attempts to hold his mark to .448; the rise of the New York Giants' slugger in the senior loop and of the Athletics' ace in the American League. Three Giants, Mel Ott, Hank Leiber, and Bill Terry moved up to join Mark Koenig in the first ten. Jimmie Foxx and Bob Johnson of the A's, gaining ten and 44 points respectively during the week, slid in behind Hemsley with averages of .388 and .385.

The World of STAMPS

Dodgers Need Pitching
Casey Stengel, who lacks much of the professional optimism of a baseball manager, admits that his Dodgers need a lot more good pitching than they now have if they're going places in the National League this season. But considering their limitations, they've done pretty well so far, leading at one time and now holding firmly to second place.

Even if they don't stay up there, the Dodgers seem sure to make plenty of trouble for the other clubs when Van Lingle Mungo is on the mound. So far this spring the mighty right hander had gone the full route five times, winning three games and losing two.

Watson Clark has been the only other consistent member of the Brooklyn-flinging corps, chalking up three straight victories in his comeback effort.

Mungo Stars
Mungo had his troubles yesterday as the Dodgers ran into the Pittsburgh Pirates at the start of the western invasion of the league's eastern sector but he came through impressively. Not only did the big South Carolinian outpitch the even bigger Jim Weaver but he took matters into his own hands to drive in the winning run.

The Pirates, skidding into seventh place, collected only six hits off Mungo but they put together a single by Babe Herman, the former Dodger hero, a force-out and Pie Traynor's double for a fourth inning run. That looked like enough to win until Weaver began to wobble in the seventh. Danny Taylor and Joe Stripp nicked him for singles and the former scored after Al Lopez's fly. Mungo then smashed a base hit through Cookie Lavagetto to bring Stripp in from second.

It still took a great heave by Buzz Boyle in the ninth to keep the Bucs down. With one out and runners on first and third, Boyle strangled Tommy Thoren's fly and made a perfect throw to double Gus Suhr at the plate.

Giants Victorious
Despite the victory the Dodgers couldn't gain an inch on the race-setting Giants, who walloped Cincinnati 9 to 2 in the only other major league game. With Carl Hubbell hurling a six-hit game that might have been even better but for a shower in the final inning, the Giants cut loose with a 16-hit barrage against Rennie Fry, Don Brennan and LeRoy Herrman that brought an easy victory.

Rain and cold weather wiped out the remaining National League games and the full American League schedule, giving some teams a well-come opportunity to get over the edge of illness and injuries that has laid up two managers, Joe McCarthy of the Yankees and Jimmy Wilson of the Phils, and a good many of their hired hands.

'Like Father—'

About twenty-five years ago Mike Gibbons was earning the appellation of "The Phantom" by beating men like Willie Lewis, Young Ernie, Jack Denning, Sailor Burke and others in eastern rings.

His success stirred the followers of the fistic sport in his home town of St. Paul into a campaign to have boxing legalized in Minnesota so that they might see the local boy in action without having to travel hundreds of miles.

The measure permitting boxing in the state was passed in the spring of 1915, thanks to the free publicity brought to the Twin Cities by Mike's ring successes.

Hard on Mike's trail-blazing ring campaign a wave of fistic enthusiasm swept over the youth of that part of the country with the result that Minneapolis became a veritable hot-bed for budding ring prospects.

Many a fine fighter came up in the rush to emulate the Phantom. Mike's younger brother, Tommy, Mike O'Dowd, Billy Miske, Jack Malone, Johnny Erle, Fred Fulton, King Tut, My Sullivan and Johnny Nichols are but a few of the flock that came on to win national fame in the ring.

Another Gibbons Gets 'Em.
Today another Gibbons aroused interest in boxing in that section. It is the old Phantom's son this time.

The youngster seems to have inherited a fair share of his famous father's ring wizardry, for he has won 47 successive fights and has brought back fans who had lost interest in ring battles years ago.

If young Jack continues to improve as he has done in the last six months—and there is no reason why he should not—he may arouse the fans of Minneapolis and St. Paul to fever heat just as his daddy did a generation ago.

Old Mike is bringing the youth along slowly—carefully picking the spots but at the same time increasing the caliber of his opponents with each start.

The younger Gibbons is rapidly picking up poise and confidence with the result that he is not only improving defensively but is putting more snap into his punches.

Jack is learning how to relax and husband his strength and to pace himself to go the route. The experience he has gained in the last six months has greatly improved his general effectiveness.

Dad Will Be Careful.
Ringelders report that he put up a well nigh perfect fight against the hard-hitting Lee Savoldi in ringing up his 46th victory. He boxed the ten rounds without making a single mistake. His timing of punches, footwork and strategy were faultless.

He spotted Savoldi 14 rounds and then out-boxed, out-smarter and out-punched him at every turn.

Mike intends to let the boy follow in his fistic footsteps only so long as he shows definite promise of having the stuff to carry him to the top.

One thing is foremost in the former Phantom's mind and heart—the boy's welfare. He has no intention of leaving his son in the ring game to become cut and battered while going nowhere. There are too many other things to which the youth can apply his talents to if he is not of ring championship caliber.

Old Mike was always rated as a "smart" fighter so there is no particular reason why he should suddenly lose his cunning where his son's ring future is concerned.

Wojcio Wins Championship In Pocket Billiards At Nick's

Stanley Wojcio, downtown Polish cueist, is the billiard champion of Kingston.

Friday night at Nick Kaslich's on Wall street Wojcio defeated Julius Teller 133-96 in the second block of their 250-point match for the pocket billiard title.

Last night's duel on the green saw Wojcio come from behind in the cue war for the title, he having bowed to Teller Thursday night, 117-126.

Final score was Wojcio 250; Teller, 222.

Last night Wojcio's best run was 43 and Teller's 17. Thursday Teller ran off 32 for his best and Wojcio 24.

In winning, Wojcio not only established himself as the champion pocket billiardist of Kingston but of Ulster county, he having shot against the cream of the crop from various communities surrounding the county seat.

Besides Teller, Wojcio met Freddie Planthaber, ex-champ; Alfred Mauro, Glasco champion; Meine Russell, Saugerties titleholder; and Chino Quick, the Giant Killer.

With the title Wojcio won $25 and a pair of shoes. The shoes were offered by the Kinney shoe store. Meine Russell took the high run award for the 48 he turned in while playing against the present champ. He was the only player that defeated Wojcio.

Will "rural rehabilitation" do away with the wash basin on the bench outside the kitchen door? Or the base-burner in the living room?

PING PONG TOURNAMENT TO CLOSE MONDAY

Monday evening at 7:30, the finals in the Ping Pong Tournament which is being conducted at the local Y. M. C. A. when Robert Evory, winner of the "Winners" will meet Chipe Rhymer, winner of the "Losers." Both young men have displayed some excellent racket ability, and come to the finals fairly deserving of their victory.

Quite some argument is in effect as to which fellow will vanquish the other, and claim the trophy put up at the beginning of the tournament. Both have their group of followers behind them rooting them on, and it is thought a lively contest will ensue on Monday evening at the "Y."

Directly following the tournament, the regular senior gym class will be held following which light refreshments will be served, and the trophy awarded the "winner" and the title of "Y" Ping Pong Champion placed upon him.

Kingston High Track Varsity At Poughkeepsie This Afternoon

This afternoon Kingston High School's varsity track squad was to open its season by traveling to Poughkeepsie High School for a dual track and field meet with the Blue and White. Scheduled starting time of the first event was 2:15. Outstanding performers in the various events have been selected by a series of preliminaries, and a squad of 20 was chosen to make the trip. Captaining the locals is Charlie Boice, husky varsity shot-putter and letterman.

Although last year's Poughkeepsie meet proved a close contest, the Maroon being beaten by the narrow margin of four points, Coach Kinsella thought it very unlikely that Kingston could be able to give serious opposition to the Poughkeepsie High tracksters. "Don't think I'm a pessimist," he said, "but there are several very good reasons why we cannot duplicate last year's performance." Kingston's squad has been greatly weakened by graduation, leaving only Charlie Boice, Ira Saxe and Alan Styles of the 1934 varsity. Gibson, last year's sophomore flash, who promised to become an outstanding sprint and middle distance runner, has left school. The newcomers to the squad have, in most cases, failed to match the performance of last year's varsity.

The high school is also seriously handicapped by the lack of track equipment and facilities, the preliminaries being held on West O'Reilly street or on the uneven ground of slating up performances or of really helping the performances.

Coach Kinsella added that Poughkeepsie has a strong and well-rounded team, several varsity men having returned this year. Last year the Bridge City squad's strength lay in the same events as Kingston's, and is considered likely to repeat itself this afternoon. Weiner, a newcomer to the team, has shown great promise in the dashes, and with Styles, was expected to contribute a large share of the Maroon points in this field.

Wilber, in the quarter mile, and Styles, in the broad jump, were Kingston's two other threats to Blue and White supremacy, according to the Maroon mentor. Boice and Egan in the shot-put, Saxe in the high jump, and Charlton in the mile, all looked like probable point-getters.

The complete list of Kingston's entries follows:

100 yards—Weiner, Styles, Nausebaum.

220 yards—Styles, Weiner, Van Aken.

440 yards—Wilber, Carey, Cunningham.

880 yards—Hoit, Morehouse, Harvey.

1 Mile—Charlton, Wood, Leonard.

High jump—Saxe, Shoemaker, Weiner or Bushnell.

Broad jump—Styles, Caunitz, Weiner.

Pole vault—North, Winfield, Kachigian.

Shotput—Boice, Egan, Van Aken.

Preparations for the Outboard Race May 12

Albany, N. Y., May 4 (AP)—The Hudson river valley, race course for airplanes, stream-lined trains and speed boats, re-echoed today to the throaty roar of outboard motor boats as the tiny craft raced through the water in preparation for the 129th mile marathon dash to New York, Sunday, May 12.

Shortened by two and one-half miles, the blue ribbon event of American outboard motor-boat racing is expected to draw a record field of entries this year. Two former winners, Charles Johnson of Cranberry Lake, N. J., and "Wild Bill" Feldhausen of Staten Island, have their boats out preparing for the classic race down the Hudson. Johnson captured the Hayden-Griffin trophy last year and Feldhausen took the laurels in 1934. The race will be run in four flights based on handicap time allowances. Two new classes have been added to the competition this year. The divisions are the 225-cubic inch hydroplane and the Class 1 inboard runabout.

Clapping Hands Is Part of Prayer With Japanese

There are no regular weekly services at Shinto shrines in Japan. Once a great festival once a year, commemorating an emperor's birthday, a harvest, dead, born festival, girls' festival, planting festival, cherry blossom festival, and similar secular celebrations. Sacred and religious ceremonies are held in the Buddhist temples. It seems that Shintoism is for life in this world and Buddhism for the hereafter.

Before approaching the shrine the devotee washes his hands at a fountain provided for that purpose. There is no kneeling—simply close eyes, bow head, clap hands two or three times, concentrate two or three seconds, pray. The handclapping is to indicate that one comes to the shrine in earnest and in a spirit of peace and good will; handclapping is not possible while clapping a weapon.

The long lines of school children at the Meiji shrine suggest the thought that every boy and girl in all Japan must be duty bound to visit this great group of memorial buildings.

In the spacious outer precincts of the Meiji shrine is the Jingu stadium, with seating capacity for 55,000 spectators, with the largest and finest arena in the Orient; a baseball stadium and grandstands to seat 30,000; a swimming pool in which 15,000 can disport themselves; a jujitsu or wrestling ring, and plenty of apparatus and paraphernalia for other games and contests. On alternate years the Japanese National Olympic games are held at these ample grounds.

Entertains At Boiceville Camp

Friday Benjamin J. Winne, president of the Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association, accompanied by Field Secretary Ray Caunitz, Secretary Wight and Abram Relyea and representatives of the State Conservation Department visited the Boiceville CCC camp where Mr. Winne entertained the boys at the camp with several reels of motion pictures showing fishing scenes. One of the objects was to ascertain whether some of the CCC boys could be secured to aid in the erection of a trout rearing pool which the Ulster county association is sponsoring. The major in charge of the camp very generously agreed to cooperate with the Conservation Department and the local fish and game association by detaching 10 of his men to help in building the foundation of this rearing pool which will be erected on the Kinzie sporting lodge property on the Mt. Pleasant-Phoenix road.

On this property is an ideal spring fed brook such as is required. The conservation men tested the water and found it suitable for the purpose and of sufficient quantity to meet all needs.

Work will start on the pool in about 10 days and the cost to the club will be about $250 for material. It is expected that small fish can be reared to large legal size fish before planting in the streams and thus give the fishermen far better trout fishing than can be done by planting small fish direct into the streams where many are lost. Much of the work on the pool will be contributed free by members of the club.

The fish will be supplied by the Conservation Department about the last of June. It will be necessary to run a four inch pipe a distance of about 70 feet to convey water to the pool and a six inch outlet will be provided. The pool will be thoroughly protected against natural enemies of trout and the club hopes to be able to raise a large number of trout each year.

Proper Use of Electrical Cords Urged by Electrical Bureau

This photograph, taken from one of Dick Powell's recent film successes, "Flirtation Walk," shows the electrical safety measures used to protect the home life of our future generals.

THE Electrical Inspection Bureau secured this picture to illustrate to homemakers the type of electrical extension cord which is approved by the Bureau. The two small brackets on the cord are used to indicate that they have been tested for safety by fire underwriters. After the cord passes a rigid safety test, this label, reading: "Underwriters' Laboratories' Inspected Cord," is applied to every five feet.

The Electrical Inspection Bureau, whose duty it is to protect the lives and property of our citizens by seeing that all electrical work is safely installed, states that it is not difficult to maintain safe conditions in our city as far as permanent wiring is concerned because most of it is inspected before electric service is turned on, but it is a problem to insure safety from the electrical outlet to the lamp or appliance since many appliances are put in service after inspection. For this reason, they urge the public to cooperate with them by first buying approved electrical devices and to then exercise care in their use. One warning in particular is—never leave heating appliances connected when not in use. Numerous fires from radiators have been caused in this way.

In the educational work now being conducted by the Bureau, they are issuing posters entitled: "How to Safeguard Electric Service in the Home." These posters advise against the running of cords under rugs, the placing of cords in door jams, the running of cords over radiators or steam pipes. It is also recommended that whenever additional wiring is needed that home owners be sure that all wiring is made by a competent electrical contractor and that the work is inspected by the Electrical Inspection Bureau.

Approved, safe electrical cords and appliances may be purchased from most of the local merchants. In order to be sure of this, purchasers should insist on being supplied with approved material. In the case of cords, the buyer need only look for the bracket label illustrated.

FINANCIAL RETURNS ON CAB CALLOWAY DANCE

Paul Zucca, alderman of the First Ward, and chairman of the Municipal Auditorium committee, today had something to say concerning the Cab Calloway promotion last Thursday.

"I want to set you right on the figures," the alderman said to a reporter. "There were 847 at the dance, meaning that $847 was taken in at the box office. Ten per cent of this, $84.70, went to the city to be added to the $100 rental charged in advance. So Kingston collected $184.70 from Fred Davi the promoter. Besides this the government took 10 per cent, exclusive of the city's share, meaning the promoter had to pay another $84.70."

Alderman Zucca commented on the financial returns to clear up a report made previously which stated that the city paid the government tax.

Mr. Davi not only paid the 10 per cent government tax but plenty more to bring the famous Calloway to Kingston and has been the subject of much praise for his courageous spirit in going through with such a proposition at this time when even professional entertainment men are more than cautious.

Alderman Zucca is among those who admire Mr. Davi for his courage and the way he put Calloway over, drawing out the 847 dancers. Reports are that although Mr. Davi only broke about even on the dance, he is considering the promotion of another dance if he can secure some other radio band to play.
